

Green Associate Exam Preparation

Join Green Ideas as we outline the basic knowledge of LEED and sustainability necessary to pass the Green Associate exam. As the first step in the LEED professional's career pathway, the Green Associate credential attests to the candidate's knowledge of good environmental practice and skill, and reflects understanding and support of green design, construction, and operations. This credential applies to all LEED systems and you must pass this exam in order to be eligible to pursue a specialty in the AP credential.

Learning objectives for this seminar include:

- Identify the key components of the LEED Rating System and overall LEED certification process
- Describe the intents and associated concepts of each LEED credit category
- Recognize successful LEED strategies and measurements for achieving credit category goals

Date: Thursday, September 17

Managing LEED Documentation

This seminar is for those who want to build on their existing knowledge of LEED with in-depth instruction on LEED documentation and certification. Utilizing examples and discussion, the instructor will show you how to effectively manage the documentation process and project team from charrette to certification. We will review actual project templates, what documents to select and how to format them, common mistakes made on documentation and how information is uploaded in to LEED Online. This seminar will also address the advancements in the various LEED Rating Systems, the changes to LEED Online and the new certification model under V3.

Learning Objectives for this seminar include:

- Manage the documentation process for LEED certification, including the use of LEED Online
- Guide project team members on effective documentation management practices
- Identify and correct common mistakes made in LEED documentation

Date: Friday, September 18

Time: 8 a.m. to Noon

Seminars Presented by Green Ideas

Learn from LEED experts, NOT an education company! Since its founding in 2002, Green Ideas has been committed to the concepts of teamwork, creativity and excellence in creating energy-efficient and environmentally-responsible buildings. We are the original USGBC Education Preferred Provider and our faculty has applied the LEED Rating Systems on over 70 LEED projects, totaling more than 23 million square feet of green buildings! We incorporate this real world experience into each seminar and we look forward to working with you.
